

SUBJECT:

Abandon Proposed Amendments to the National Health Act Regulations

EMAIL (edit as you wish):

I strongly urge you work to abandon the amendments that have been proposed to National Health Act Regulations or any other measures which would give the government unconstitutional and dangerous options including absolute violation of the guaranteed Right of Informed Consent.

These new regulations would allow forced removal, examination, vaccination, medication or treatment, isolation, detention and incarceration based on the flimsy excuse of “protecting” people and society.

Such “protection” is, in fact, neither science-based public health nor public policy suitable for a society operating under the rule of law and dedicated to preserving the rights of its people. Instead, it is a shameful imposition of unjustifiable tyranny which will destroy South Africa as surely as it will destroy her people.

South Africa, having recently climbed out of one type of mass oppression, must not plunge into another equally illogical and destructive oppression.

Yours in health and freedom,
